

On Sukkot we have the tradition of “Ushpizin” of inviting guests into our Sukkot. If you can invite anyone into your Sukkah who would you invite? Why?

What does it mean to be a generous host?

With current restrictions and protocols, what can you do to make your home open to others?

If a stranger walked into your home, what would they learn about your family just from looking around?

Aside from physical materials, what are the important elements for you in building your home? Why?

When we are not commanded to dwell in the Sukkah, what are some ways in which we can remember daily the importance of our spiritual/communal home throughout the year?

If there’s one lesson to take from the holiday of Sukkot, what would it be?

FAMILY CONVERSATION TOPICS

What's your family known for?

What's your greatest strength as a family?

What are you glad you learned from your family?

What's special about your family?

What family story do you feel must be preserved?

DISCUSS AMONGST YOURSELVES

What are you looking forward to this year?

What are you most thankful for?

How have you changed in the past year?

What do you love about where you live?

What invitation would you love to receive?